Burials in Mt. Calvary appear to go back to 1838. However, the following was taken from material which gave the history of the Mt. Calvary Association (which in turn, was based on information gathered from the history of St. Francis Xavier Cathedral, Vincennes, Indiana and was written by Henry S. Cauthorn in 1892): NOTE: the first part is abstracted; the part in quotes is taken verbatim.

This cemetery was laid out, fenced, and consecrated by Bishop de la Hailandiere just outside of the city limits, on the lands of the church, in the summer of 1846. A part of it was set apart for St. Xavier's congregation and another part for St. John's German congregation. The part assigned to St. Xavier is divided into family lots and many are beautifully ornamented. Many family lots are also found in the St. John's portion; but, for the most part, the interments there were one after the other in the order of burial. The graves are all appropriately marked by monuments and tombstones.

"The German style of burial is different from burials from the cathedral. No carriages are allowed in the funeral procession, but headed by the pastor they walk to the grave. This mode of burial is certainly more appropriate for such an occasion, and evidences a greater respect for the memory of the dead relative or friend than to accompany his remains in a carriage or other conveyance to the grave, in a slow and measured pace, and return therefrom at a breakneck speed, as if anxious to get away as soon as possible. Besides it is much cheaper, and the money expended in useless show could be spent in a better way. This expenditure benefits no one, except the liverymen, who doubtless, in dull times hear of the death of one who is thus to be so buried with pleasure, as it will augment their receipts. By dispensing with this waste of money, the Germans have been able to decorate their church inside and out, until it presents a better appearance than the cathedral. They have done so from this saving alone, without lessening the general cash balance of the members.

"Observation (1) All that portion of ground which beginning at the first German graves lies along the Catherinette Road, south of the main walk (east and west) was attributed by the Right Reverend Bishop to the exclusive use of the German congregation. It is about one-fourth of the whole ground inclosed. They keep up the fence only along the portion of ground which belongs to them.

(2) There are two sets of lots in the graveyard. One is that portion of it which was first inclosed--these are numbered according to a plot made by Judge Moore and the receipts call for the numbers as set down on that plot. The other is the first addition, which running along the Catherinette Road goes up to that portion of the present graveyard now used by the Germans. This second set of lots is numbered in the receipts of purchase according to the order of their sale. So far until lately persons chose lots where they pleased. Experience having shown that confusion and loss of ground being likely to be the result if this course were continued, the Sexton was directed to permit no entry of lots but in regular succession to one another along the walks."

This compilation was made by consulting burial records, earlier cemetery listings, and newspaper obits as well as reading the existing stones.

ST. FRANCIS XAVIER PARISH RECORDS

Vincennes, Indiana

English Translation probably by Father Schmitt

This church is known as the OLD CATHEDRAL. The cemetery no longer exists except for a few very old stones remaining in the churchyard west of the present church building. The area where the parish cemetery used to be is now the George Rogers Clark Memorial and the grounds surrounding it.

The dates given in this listing are generally the BURIAL date. All are taken from the English translation (probably by Father Schmitt). The original records can be found at the Old Cathedral Library as well as the original copy of the English translation. The list given here covers the period from 1749-1838. Later lists in the translation are given in index only.

The periods covered in the translation by Father Schmitt and the names of some of the recording priests are as follows:

1749--1784: Meurin, S.J., Phillibert, P. Gibault, Payet
1774--1786
and : Phillibert, Gibault, Rivet, Donatien Olivier who 1809--1831 came to bury and replace Mr. Rivet, Jan 28 or Feb 28
1804
1786--1795
and : P. Gibault, Pr. Mallet, Flaget, J. L. Champomier
1824--1830

1796--1808: Jean Franc. Rivet

1814--1838: G.J. Chabrat, Blanc, Ferrari, Dahmen, Picot,
Simon Petit LaLumiere, S. Brute

In the translation, alphabetical lists of names are given in INDEX ONLY with page numbers of original records for the following groups:

1839--1847
1847--1855
1855--1865
1865--1913

It must be remembered that the several priests, missionaries, lay priests, etc., sometimes overlapped in terms and times of service, and each may have used his own book and/or mechanics of recording. For purposes here we have recorded the essential information as given. Should the researcher have questions, it is suggested that the original records be checked.
